Do You Like Shooting? Tapir, Puma, Jaguar, Deer Mexico Is the Place And It's a Great Nation

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

NOGALES, ARIZ., Feb. 19— In Nogales once again, doorway connecting Mexico and the United States. Come here once, and you [illegible] come often. The Southern Pacific comes from Los Angeles via Colton, Redlands, Palm Springs, [illegible] and Niland to Yuma, where the marvelous fruits grow on the irrigated tablelands, and on through Arizona via Phoenix, capital of the state, Tucson, then due south to Nogales.

At Tucson there is time to visit once more the admirable University of Arizona and see a $1,500,000 hospital built for its employes by the Southern Pacific railroad. A New Yorker, Mr. Harkness, who has given away many millions wisely, gave $500,000 for the hospital's scientific equipment. Money could not be better spent, for there is no more important body of public servants than the railroad men.

IT WILL INTEREST Seward Cary, George Milburn, Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Averill Harriman and others interested in polo to know that the young men of Arizona university play polo as earnestly as Helen Wills plays tennis and Bobby Jones golf. They intend to play in the east, and practicing 12 months in the year should develop men as good as Pedley of California.

THIS car carries an amazing assortment of firearms on the way to Mexico with Robert Hodge of Hodge, Cal., alfalfa rancher; Kemper Campbell, Los Angeles lawyer, and Seward Brisbane, who at this stage of his career holds that man's finest production is a rifle with a telescope mounted on it that can kill a mountain sheep two and a half miles away. The opinion of the mountain sheep would be different.

IF SHOOTING interesting animals or catching fish appeals to you bring your guns, ammunition, tackle and money and spend your time in Mexico.

At Altar, a 45-five mile motor drive from Nogales, you will find excellent deer shooting. And at Guaymas, southern extremity of Governor Elias' state of Sonora, you catch fish in the Gulf of California, in quantity and quality unknown elsewhere, as many as your boat will hold.

At Navajoa, a little farther south, you will find wild ducks and geese in flocks of thousands.

MOUNTAIN SHEEP and goats, that seem to fascinate sportsmen are plentiful in Mexico. If you prefer more ferocious game you may shoot mountain lions, as big as a fair-sized tiger, and jaguar, the Mexican tigre, as ferocious and dangerous as any animal that kills for a living. You may also kill tapirs although it would take a hard heart to shoot that gentle animal with a long nose, that seems to have been suddenly stopped by evolution on its way to become an elephant.

ALSO THERE ARE thousands of wild boars that, according to the British idea, should be killed with a lance from the back of a horse, according to orthodox "pig-sticking" rules. It is safer, however, to shoot a big boar with a soft-nosed bullet that spreads when it strikes to make the wound

OIL CO. MOVES OFFICES HERE

Standard Brings District Headquarters to City from Mansfield.

TO ENLARGE LOCAL PLANT

Transfer Brings Five Men to Marion To Add to Force.

Marion has been made district headquarters for 10 counties by the Standard Oil Co., officials of the company announced today.

Location of the district offices here has necessitated improvements and expansion of the local headquarters and addition of five men to the staff of employes.

Distribution Point

The new setup is practically complete, with R. S. Tracy, formerly assistant manager of the Toledo territory, as district manager. As district headquarters, Marion will be a distribution point for oils, greases, tires and other merchandise handled by the company. The local bulk station will continue to supply Marion and Marion county filling stations with gasoline.

Mr. Tracy has taken up residence on Forest Lawn boulevard. Five other families are being brought to Marion by the new setup.

The bulk station of the plant on Campbell street in the rear of the Palace theater has been improved and enlarged to handle the business of the district. Other improvements will be made later, officials of the company say.

The office building has been enlarged, and new pumping equipment installed. The district work will make expansion of local facilities imperative in the next few months, according to George Minard, on the sales staff of the company.

Marion Well Located

The five men brought here by the new setup, in addition to Mr. Tracy, will include two office men, a mechanic to operate a garage for the repair of all company automobiles and trucks in the district, a supervisor of all stations in the district, and a mechanic in charge of all pumps and other equipment.

District business for the 10 counties formerly was carried on in Mansfield, but Marion was chosen for new headquarters when this district was transferred from the Cleveland to the Toledo division. The district with headquarters here is now one of five in the Toledo division. Central location and other advantages encouraged the company to choose Marion.

George Long of Johnson street is the bulk plant agent of the company here, and George Minard of 325 Summit street is sales manager. C. F. Gorby is service station supervisor for the district.

New York Central Action Brings Controversy with City to Showdown.

MARCH 14 IS DATE SET

City Council Proposes Mass Meeting To Determine Settlement Action.

By The Associated Press.

BUCYRUS, O., Feb. 19—Posting of a notice today at the New York Central railway shops here saying work would be discontinued March 14, and the shops moved to Collingwood, outside of Cleveland, brings to a show down a long controversy between railway and city officials.

Fifty years ago Bucyrus gave the New York Central $50,000 raised by bond issues and a large tract of land for the railway to start its shops here. At that time the city stipulated that when the railway company moved its shops from Bucyrus, all equipment and the land would revert to the city. In addition, a clause was inserted that the railway would pay back to the city $50,000 at its departure.

If a settlement offer is made, it is the plan of city council to call a mass meeting of citizens to consider the proposition—whether to let the railway move without a settlement; let the company take its equipment or to hold the company to the deed clause and let it go without shop or equipment and collect $50,000.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19— Determined to move its locomotive repair shop from Bucyrus to Collingwood, near Cleveland, the New York Central railroad will offer terms of settlement to the city of Bucyrus, which is protesting that the removal is in violation of an agreement when the shop was established, it was learned here today.

"We believe in arbitration and will attempt to reach a fair settlement with the city," L. S. Emery, general manager of the operating department for the railroad, told International News Service.

STATE OFFICE 4-YEAR TERMS FORECAST

Proposal Set for Action in Senate Today Expected To Pass.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 18—Probability of Ohio continuing for another two years without an automobile drivers' license loomed today as one of the measures proposed to the legislature for enactment into law lay shelved by a nine to four vote of the house motor vehicles committee.

The measure killed by tabling was that initiated by the Ohio State Automobile association. Two similar measures, one sponsored by the association of police chiefs and sheriffs, and the other by the Ohio State Bar association, probably will not be pushed.

The senate was to give further consideration today to the Taft resolution proposing a constitutional amendment providing four-year terms for governor and all other elective state officials. The measure was considered for some time yesterday, but final action was deferred until today.

Proposed by a Republican, Democrats yesterday indicated their intention of supporting the amendment and its adoption is anticipated.

Road Program Discussed

Numerous plans for taking rural Ohio out of the mud were discussed by Governor White and members of the assembly last night and were understood to have resulted in the direction of Highway Director O. W. Merrill to devise some plan whereby thousands of miles of county and township roads could be added to the state system annually. Neither the governor nor the legislators would comment upon their discussions.

The house taxation committee held a lengthy hearing on an agreed bill for redistribution of the four-cent gasoline tax whereby townships would receive a larger portion.

FINDS HUGE NUGGET

Jim Larcombe, an Australian boy, is probably humming "Happy days are here again." The cause of Jim's jubilation is shown above being held by miners. It is a nugget of solid gold, weighing 1,135 ounces, 15 dwt. Jim found it at Larkinville, in Western Australia, and it was only 18 feet below the surface of the earth. It is worth $30,000, so Jim's happy days have arrived.

PLEA FOR IRENE MADE TO GOVERNOR TODAY

Final Move Made To Save Gunwoman from Execution Monday.

By the Associated Press.

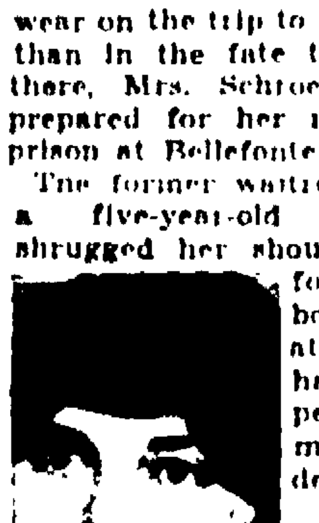
HARRISBURG, Pa., Feb. 19 A direct appeal to Governor Gifford Pinchot, the last hope of delaying the death of Mrs. Irene Schroeder in the electric chair, was made today by relatives of the woman, who is under sentence to die next Monday for the slaying of Corporal W. Brady Paul, state highway patrolman. Among the five relatives of the condemned "blond' bandit" who called to make a final plea for mercy was Donnie, the 5-year-old son of the gunwoman.

The group comprised, in addition to Donnie, the condemned woman's father, Jacob Crawford, who resides near Wheeling, W. Va., her brother, John Crawford, and her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Muldoon.

"The governor was very kind to me," Irene's father said after meeting the governor. "My heart is broken. I don't believe I can stand this."

Apparently more concerned about the new black silk dress she is to wear on the trip to the death house than in the fate that awaits her there, Mrs. Schroeder, 22, today prepared for her removal to the prison at Bellefonte.

The former waitress, mother of a five-year-old boy, merely shrugged her shoulders when informed the state board of pardons at Harrisburg had refused her petition for commutation of the death sentence.



Irene Schroeder

The same unconcern was shown by W. Glenn Dague, dapper former Wheeling, W. Va., auto and insurance salesman, under sentence to die with her in the electric chair Monday morning for the same crime. Dague's doom also was sealed by the pardon board yesterday. He refused to see the wife and two children he deserted several years ago.

Under Pennsylvania law, the only possible course open to Governor Pinchot would be the granting of successive respites delaying the imposition of the death penalty, now set for next Monday at Rockview penitentiary.

Governor's Hands Tied

The state board of pardons, in refusing yesterday to recommend to the governor the commutation of the death sentence of both Mrs. Shroeder and Walter Glenn Dague, her companion at the time of the slaying on Dec. 27, 1929, automatically made it impossible for Governor Pinchot to accede to any further pleas for substitution of life imprisonment for the death penalties imposed by the courts.

Under Extra Guard

The couple were under extra guard today, as Sheriff Frank Johnson secretly planned removal of the doomed pair to the penitentiary. Johnson refused to say when the trip would be made.

Mrs. Schroeder and Dague were convicted last March of shooting to death Corporal Brady Paul when he sought to question them concerning a store holdup.

RAIN CONTINUES IN DROUTH AREA

Ohio and Other Sections of Country Benefited by Weather Trend.

By The Associated Press.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 19 — Rainfall, affording further relief from drouth conditions, continued general over Ohio this morning, weather observers reported.

The rainfall in the central Ohio region since 8 a. m., Wednesday, has been heavy and additional rain, and possibly light snow was predicted for Thursday night and Friday.

• • •

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19 — The long-stagnant atmospheres which brought drouth to the county have stirred. That apparently is why it is raining once more.

Science has found no cause for the almost complete lack of motion of the upper air, to which it attributed the drouth that had devastated wide stretches of farming land. Furthermore, there is no way of knowing, said today J. B. Kincher, agricultural meteorologist of the weather bureau, whether the resumption of currents is permanent or will again lapse.

A readjustment of air pressure conditions in early February permitted the air to flow from high to low pressure areas. The low pressure areas swung across the country and in recent days have been attended by substantial and sometimes heavy rains over much of the hitherto persistently dry areas.

Husbands Dine on Canned Food As Bridge Marathon Goes On

CHICAGO, Feb. 19—Eight hungry husbands today resigned themselves to delicatessen food for an indefinite period when they learned that the marathon bridge party for housewives is really a serious matter.

When dawn came this morning the tables of contestants at the home of Mrs. Charles Thiel were still dealing and bidding. At midnight the newest thing in marathons had been in progress for 16 hours.

Mrs. Edward Leibach had the high score, 16,021. Since the party began she had counted seven grand slams. Mrs. William Lyon, third with 13,428, had held 100 aces four times in a row.

HYMIE MARTIN MUTE IN COURT ARRAIGNMENT

Will Enter Not Guilty Plea for Alleged Slayer of Potter.

PLAN TO SPEED TRIAL

Prisoner Once More Identified by Custodian of "Murder Apartment."

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., Feb 19 Plans to bring "Pittsburgh Hymie" to trial for the murder of former Councilman William E. Potter almost as speedily as he was whisked here yesterday from Pittsburgh were being laid today.

Martin stood mute when arraigned on a first degree murder charge in police court today. A plea of not guilty will be entered for him.

Cuyahoga County commissioners added $10,000 today to the reward offered for arrest and conviction of the slayers of Potter, bringing the total to $21,000.

Detective Inspector C. W. Cody and Prosecutor Ray T. Miller were to decide whether to bring witnesses before the grand jury to indict Martin tomorrow.

No sooner was Martin lodged in the city jail last night after detectives hurried him from a Pittsburgh courtroom than he was once more identified as the renter of the suite where Potter was shot to death two weeks ago. Fred C. Laub, custodian of the building, picked him from a "lineup" without hesitation, corroborating his previous identification from photographs.

Merchant Views Prisoner

John W. Echelberry, Kent merchant policeman who said he saw Martin and a blond woman in a Kent restaurant Feb. 4, the morning after Potter was killed, also viewed the prisoner. Neither he nor Inspector Cornelius W. Cody would say what the result was.

The woman who authorities believe may be Mary Outland Woodfield, Akron friend of Martin's, was seen in the apartment building a day or so before the killing. Martin, enroute here, said "I'll make every effort to help you get her when the time comes."

Cleveland detectives astonished Pittsburgh authorities, ran a gamut of Pennsylvania state police who had orders to stop them and precipitated possible legal complications when they rushed Martin here. As Common Pleas Judge Joseph C. Stadtfeld denied Martin's application for a writ of habeas corpus, the prisoner was bustled out of the courtroom, out into a waiting automobile and driven across the state to Ohio at a speed that sometimes reached 75 miles an hour.

Judge Standtfeld denied the writ

GAS CO. ARGUMENTS NOW BEFORE COURT

Supreme Tribunal To Decide Valuation of Logan Leaseholds.

The Ohio supreme court today had under advisement the second appeal of the Logan Gas Co. from a decision of the public utilities commission fixing a valuation on its properties for rate making purposes in Marion, Bucyrus and 50 other Ohio cities.

The hearing was held in Columbus yesterday, with counsel for the utilities commission and the gas company presenting conflicting opinions as to whether the valuation, which the commission fixed at $11,697,064, shoul dinclude substantial estimates for two classes of leaseholds for gas producing lands.

The company's counsel argued the court must reconsider its claims for a $1,800,000 valuation on 75,541 acres of gas producing land, and a fair valuation on a second leasehold of 940,533 acres which has not yet been drilled.

The case dates back since 1925 when protests against proposed increase in rates were filed. At first 72 cities were affected but since that time the company has settled with 22 of them and has made unsuccessful attempts to settle the Marion rate.

UNEMPLOYED TO MEET HERE

Mass Gathering To Be Held Sunday at Central Labor Union Hall.

ORGANIZER WILL SPEAK

Local Body Presents Petition to White Asking Quiz of Relief Measures Here.

A mass meeting will be held Sunday afternoon in the Central Labor Union hall on South Main street by the Marion Council of Unemployed officials of the organization announced today. The public is invited to attend.

One of the features of the meeting will be a talk by C. H. Cowan of Cleveland, Ohio district organizer of the council, who will talk on "Unemployment and Wage Cuts. Their Cause and Cure."

Ask City for Relief

The local council has approached city council and Mayor L. Don Jones, asking for relief, according to G. E. Jenkins of 365 Mound street, secretary. Recently, a committee of the Council of Unemployed headed by C. E. Kearns, approached Governor George White with a petition which Jenkins said carried 600 names, asking for immediate relief. Jenkins said the committee was unable to obtain an audience with the governor, but left the petition with Adjutant General Henderson.

The petition asked an investigation of conditions among the unemployed here and asked relief for these conditions. It was set forth in the petition, according to Jenkins, that the local relief agencies were not functioning properly.

Investigates Needs

The council has committees investigating the various needs of Marion's unemployed, according to Jenkins.

It is the aim of the organization to obtain temporary relief from the state, county and city governments in an unemployment insurance which would provide $8 a week for the head of every family and $2 a week additional for each dependent member of the family until such time as a federal unemployment measure is adopted.

It is proposed by the organization that the budgets of the governments be cut and that city salaries be reduced to a maximum of $2,000 a year to provide funds for this relief.

Up to Mellon

(Will Rogers Special)

BEVERLEY HILLS, Calif., Feb. 19—Say, we lost a fine fellow out here yesterday, Louis Wolheim, the great actor. He was so ugly and tough you loved him on the screen. And when you knew him he was actually beautiful, and you loved him for his character.

The senate votes on the bonus bill today. Mellon is supposed to be such a good treasurer, that the senate is saying, "If you are such a good treasurer, you ought to have a billion and a half; anybody can be a good treasurer if you don't draw anything out. A good treasurer is a man that has it when we want it."

OVERWHELMING VICTORY SEEN FOR MEASURE

Administration Foes of Vets' Loan Proposal Routed in Every Clash.

MAJORITY IS LINED UP

Veto Predicted, but Sponsors Maneuver To Win Out in End.

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19—An overwhelming majority lined up in the senate today to rush the veterans' loan relief bill to the protesting President.

Administration supporters were still in rout from the powerful bipartisan coalition supporting the measure as it came today despite the vigorous objections voiced by the President and the treasury. The bill allows the veterans to borrow up to half the face value of their compensation certificates.

The measure was before the senate backed by a 13 to 3 vote of its finance committee and a 363 to 39 vote of the house. Its passage before nightfall was the aim of confident advocates.

Aim to Beat Possible Veto

Mr. Hoover's urgent protest that the legislation might prolong the depression apparently had served only to spur its friends' determination to get it to the White House before a pocket veto might be administered.

Republican leaders freely predicted a veto by the President. On Saturday the 10-day period preceding an adjournment begins. During this period Mr. Hoover might kill the bill by refusing to sign it before congress ends its work on March 4. It was to avoid this possibility that senate advocates were insistent the legislation be rushed through without change so it might be sent to the White House before Friday night.

Only one change was contemplated by the sponsors of the bill in the senate—a reduction of the interest rate from 4½ per cent to 4 per cent to be charged on the loans—and they were unwilling to risk even this unless assurance was received from house leaders that it would be accepted without sending the measure to conference.

Deserted by Leaders

The administration rout on the veterans' loan measure is one of the most inclusive since President Hoover took office. Speaker Longworth in the house and Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader in the senate, joined the supporters of the bill. The measure was put forward on Capitol Hill as a compromise to demands for full cash payments of the certificates.

TEAR GAS FAILS TO HALT BANK HOLDUP

Woman Employe at Yellow Springs Touches Gas Release, Without Results.

By The Associated Press.

YELLOW SPRINGS, O., Feb. 19—Three Negroes held up three employes and a customer of the Miami Deposit bank here shortly before noon today and escaped with approximately $1,500.

Fred Kershner, assistant cashier, Miss Clara Zell and Miss Dorothy Vrannum, bookkeepers, and Charles Swanden, an Antioch college student, were in the bank at the time. Kershner said one of the Negroes covered him with a gun while another went behind the cage and scooped the money from tills.

Miss Vrannum stepped on a button that released tear gas in the room, but one of the Negroes forced Miss Zell to open a door so that the gas did not take full effect.

Kershner said the Negroes walked about two blocks when they left the bank and drove toward Springfield in an old sedan. He said one Negro carried a dinner bucket, and all wore working clothes.

Several officials and citizens pursued the robbers, but found no trace of them.

Charlie Chaplin Gets Big Ovation on Return to England.

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, Feb. 19—A shy little man with eloquent feet was England's greatest hero today. It was Charlie Chaplin, of course, coming home for the second time since he left his London attic to seek his fortune twenty years ago.

Ever since it became known that he was returning, the newspapers have maintained a barrage about him and today they followed him with bulletins from his ship to London. A tremendous welcome began the moment he stepped off the boat at Plymouth, and it continued as the boat train sped through the countryside on a schedule the movie fans knew by heart.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

CHAPTER 20

Marjorie Hesitates

T[illegible] car was seldom out of [illegible]s mind. From the local [illegible] bureau he had learned [illegible] Sturling and 16 others [illegible]ity owned Morris two-[illegible]ne type seen near the [illegible] Major Gresham owned [illegible] said he had walked [illegible] night of the tragedy. [illegible] ght have come from a [illegible] if a local one, possibly [illegible] without its owner's [illegible]

[illegible] from a visit to Constable [illegible] had been tracking [illegible] cars. Jimmie met Mar-[illegible] rather to his surprise, [illegible] road to speak to him [illegible] looking better and happier [illegible] when he had previously seen [illegible] he wondered what had [illegible] very noticeable change [illegible] that if Nancy Wade would [illegible] again and bring Donald [illegible] self it would be kind. Jimmie promised to deliver the message [illegible] then he said:

[illegible] I suppose of the van-[illegible]

[illegible] said Marjorie, adding that [illegible] not understand any [illegible] since Morgan had [illegible] even if signed, it would [illegible] ing [illegible] erly signed it would not [illegible] operative."

'Only the bit about us? And of course we are suspected Her manner was almost gay "Whom do you suspect, Mr Haswell?"

Jimmie countered with a smile and she continued "The police suspect everybody don't they? Especially Bill Netherton and me. If they only knew——" Then she stopped abruptly and spoke more seriously "Is all the talk about it going to do Bill any harm?" My brother declares that in a little place like this things are never forgotten—even when they are untrue. Vinnie is suspected too Ought I to say that he wrote to me before he came down here? He told me he was coming and he asked me to see that Aunt Annabelle was in a good temper"

"Have you got his letter?"

"No, I didn't keep it"

Jimmie considered the question for a few moments Such a letter would be further evidence that Vincent Blake had not made a secret visit to his aunt's abode, though it would not dispose of the possible theory of a plot between himself and one or both of his sisters Nor would it dispose of the suggestion that he might have seen his aunt and quarreled with her

Marjorie did not want to tell the superintendent of Vincent's letter, but told Jimmie that he might, although Vincent had told her that Richmond would ask why it had not been told before Jimmie suggested that Vincent tell him

"I don't think it matters much either way," Haswell commented "But what did you think when you found your aunt and Vincent did not appear?"

"You mean did I suspect Vinnie? No. I did not I had forgotten about him"

"And now? Yourself your sister your brother Knowing your aunt and all the circumstances of her life better than any one else could -can you make no suggestions that will help to solve the mystery?"

"But we ourselves are suspected"

'The more reason then to tell all you know"

After a slight hesitation she said, 'We told about the letters but they never discovered who wrote them"

"Suppose the letters had nothing to do with it?"

"But why suppose it? I must leave suspicions to you and to the police"

"You spoke of the danger of harm resulting to Doctor Netherton Have you done all you can to prevent that danger?"

"What do you mean" she asked

"If you believe Dr Netherton to be innocent is there nothing you can tell that will help to establish his innocence? To clear his name from any taint of suspicion?"

The warm color flushed her cheeks. "Bill is innocent, absolutely innocent No one can prove anything else"

"I know I have no real right to interfere," Jimmie paused to let his words sink in, 'although one of the parties concerned asked me to help them. We want, if possible, to punish the guilty, but, most of all, we want to save the innocent"

She looked away from him the old troubled look coming again into her eyes 'Do you not suppose," she whispered, "I would help you if I could?"

"Would you? Think it over, Miss Blake. Think over all it may mean to Bill and others Then, if there is anything —will you let me know?"

Once more she hesitated. When she spoke it was in a new mood—there was something of defiance in it. "You are wrong, Mr. Haswell Altogether wrong The whole thing is as great a mystery to me as it is to you I hope you will discover who killed my aunt I wish it as much as any one, and I am as thankful as any one for all you have done But there is nothing I can do to help you"

As he walked toward the Wades' home he considered what Marjorie had told him, but, more conjecturally, the thought of what she had not told him was uppermost as he greeted Nancy and gave her Marjorie's message It was forthwith arranged that the little party from Fairways should go over to Merrow Craig the following evening

In the morning Jimmie played a round of golf with Nancy, meeting Evelyn and Lionel on the course. Evelyn repeated the invitation to the Wades and Jimmie for bridge that evening and passed on In the distance was Captain Stirling and another man, the one armed golfer making some accurate long drives.

In the afternoon he went to see Roscoe and again met Superintendent Richmond, who seemed greatly discouraged "The safe way to commit a murder is on impulse. Every plan you make is a source of danger. If a man hates another, there is murder in his heart. Suddenly the chance to kill is offered and he takes it. That sort of crime is the most difficult to detect."

"Are you talking at large or with reference to the Querdling case?" asked Jimmie.

"To this case, of course I am coming back to my first idea that the chauffeur did it He was furious at her, she was there under the image and he gave it a shove. No one saw him and nothing can be proved."

"I follow the argument," said Jimmie, "and to some extent agree The visit to Ben Acres for the hammer was not the only walk that evening."

"On the way to Ben's, or coming back, he went around by the Dutch garden and saw his chance"

"What about the empty car?" asked Jimmie.

"He thought it would put us off the track, but our failure to trace it justifies our doubting its existence."

If, as Jimmie suggested, Collett and Mrs. Frater had seen it, too, Richmond said it might not have been the same one.

Richmond had seen Green again, he said, but the chauffeur stuck to his story. Certainly proof would be difficult. Others had the same opporrtunity as the chauffeur, with apparently stronger motives—not anger only, but very definite gain. Jimmie left him, little thinking what the night was to bring forth.

To Be Continued.

I'm not saying they're unpleasant-word-used-in-trenches-during-war – or anything like that,' he grinned provocatively at his friend In fact I agree with your deductions but I'd like to hear the real dope in the oiled-silk package

The Indelible Message

"You probably will if you can ever quit your favorite diversion of hearing your silvery tongue babble on and on into the moonlight," Mr Underwood told him, and then my father, with an amused smile at both belligerents opened the oiled silk packet, and took from it a piece of parchment at which he looked closely before passing it to Lillian

"Indelible ink, isn't it?" he asked, "Will stand water?

She looked at it carefully, then nodded an assent, and my father took back the parchment

"They took no chances upon its being destroyed before reaching us' he said 'I would not be afraid to wager that we will receive a telegram from New York City some time today telling us to look out for it If they choose, as they will, a busy hour in a large city exchange, and give a fake address below whatever signature they use, the chance of tracing them is negligible. Now, let's see what they say"

He adjusted his reading glasses with maddening slowness, read the parchment through, and then with a troubled glance at us, read it aloud

"Dear Friends in Convocation Assembled

"How do you like our little game of 'Box, box, who's got the box?'

"Oh, yes we'll coyly admit we haven't the box as yet, but let us whisper something into your more or less shell-like ears

'We didn't expect to get the box this morning

"What's more, we wouldn't have that box in our possession just now for any money you could hand us Later, that's another thing But now NIX' NIT' NON' NO'

To Meet the Yellow Peril

"We were simply trying to impress upon you and the bank how easy it would be to rob that respected institution Incidentally, my friends, let us say in passing as it were, that if we had really planned to rob that thar bank it would have been robbed with celerity and dispatch Make no doubt about that, and consider it when you weigh this further statement that we know we now have made it well-nigh impossible to get into the aforesaid bank with crowbars or yet rolling pins

"There are more ways of skinning a cat says the old proverb than by beginning at the tail and we shall bide our time especially for the present

"You'll not be annoyed further by us as long as the box stays safely in the bank I tell you this on the word of a crook but a man of his word You probably will be annoyed by another set of men who for some incomprehensible reason seem to be attracted by the same queer object

"Tell Monsieur Corwin not to hire any Chinese porters, and to watch out for a distinct increase in numbers in Sag Harbor's most eminent Chinese social circles

"Hope your ladies were not too much frighened by our little joke

"The Four Drown-deaded Men of Peconic Bay

My father laid the parchment down as he finished reading and looked at each one of us in turn

"Well' he said at last 'What do you think of it?"

"First that old Harry proved his dope' Dicky said enthusiastically 'Marvelous intuition my boy" He clapped his friend upon the back with much the force of a mother bear removing her half grown cub, and the big man wrigeled his shoulders

"Gently my lad gently" he said ruefully 'Not quite so much enthusiasm It seems to me Chief' he turned deferentially to my father "that we can take this bird's word and forget about him and his friends for a while and concentrate on the Yellow Peril with capitals'

"I agree with you my father said "and do you realize this letter bears out our suspicions that Brixton was behind this other attempt to get the box?"

Evidence of Brixton

How?' Dicky asked then quickly answered his own question 'Oh' yes Brixton was in China Lil says when this mess began. He'd get that information before anybody else"

My father rose with deliberation "This simplifies matters" he said We have only one set of men to deal with for I'm ready to accept this fellow's statement" he tapped the parchment "It has all the earmarks of truth But I'm afraid we're in for it with that Chinese gang Lillian will you take Margaret upstairs and see that she goes back to bed at once? Your husband and Richard and I must plan the guarding of the farm house until those Chinese show their hand and there is no possible need of your being burdened with it"

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TOMORROW will be Friday, and that is one thing I am always glad about When I opened the window it was warmer and, sure enough, it was raining like my grandfather said He is a smarter man than anyone would think to look at him. Most grandfathers are I guess I went out in the rain with my milk pail to go to the barn and fetch in what the cows had for me. It is funny how a fella can feed bran and hay into one end of a cow and take fresh milk out of the other end. The smartest men in the world can't take hay and stuff and make milk out of it, but a chicken is smarter than a cow; it can eat a handful of worms and lay an egg. And a chicken does things right.

A chicken takes what it has got for a fella and puts a shell on it and lays it in a nest where he can go and get it any time. He don't have to get up early in the morning and leave his play and hurry home at night to take it away from her. I wish cows were like that. The bunch said I was a bright fella to think of things like that. I don't think I am, not so very. If I was really bright I would think of something I could feed a cow that would make it perform like a hen.

When I went in and sot down to feed my face, and after my ant had made me go out to the kitchen and wash my hands— ants make a fella wash his hands whether they need it or not—my mother was talking about roses and asted my grandfather if she hadn't better plant them now, but he said there would be some more cold weather She said the rain and Maggie coming in with her roller skates on yesterday was a sign of spring. Then I said that Feeble thought Maggie coming with her rollers on was a sign of fall. Everybody laughed and my grandfather slapped me on the back so hard that the pancake I was swallowing came back up and I had to swallow it again. Everybody is always making more work for a boy.

The Lost Bag of Tripe's father has been putting a tar paper roof on their shed and the Lost Bag of Tripe had some broadheaded short nails he had swiped, and when we got to the school Mush was driving out with his dump cart to go to work, and we watched him get started. STATE TO REST

Prosecution Calls Final Witness in Trial of Daugherty.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Feb. 19—Cecil Hall, accountant and star witness for the state was summoned to the witness stand once more today to give what was expected to be the final testimony against Mal S. Daugherty, charged with abstracting funds from the closed Ohio state bank.

Hall, whose investigations for the state played a prominent part in the indictment of Daugherty, former president of the bank, yesterday identified further records, among them items showing that Daugherty owed the institution $49,600.

Under cross examination, however the witness said that the records were kept in proper form and that no attempt was made to falsify the books.

Previously he had testified that Daugherty loaned his wife, listed as "L. H. Daugherty," $42,000 when the bank's resources were below the legal limit and had deposited the proceeds of numerous unpaid notes to his own account.

HARLOW ADVERTISES FOR MATERIAL BIDS

Lease of Airport Also Open for Proposals To Be Opened March 21.

Bids for the lease of Marion airport and for furnishing materials to be used by the service department during 1931 will be received by Service Director D. J. Harlow on March 21 until noon. The bids will then be tabulated and considered by the city board of control for award.

The city is offering Marion airport for lease for a year, following forfeiture by the Sycamore Airport Co. of a lease on the port. The forfeiture was made when the company fell in arrears on rentals. The lease called for a rental of $500 a year.

Bids for materials will be considered as the service department prepares to get the 1931 program of repairs on streets and sewers under way. Bids will be submitted for materials in the following approximate amounts: 50 tons of concrete sand, 50 tons of lake sand, 25 tons of gravel, 100 tons of crushed stone, 300 bags of Portland cement, 100 tons of asphalt cold patch material, 5,000 gallons of cold tar, 5,000 gallons of medium tar, 30,000 gallons of No 4 standard of Ohio road oil applied on the streets.

Each bid for materials must be accompanied by a certified check for $100.

COUNTY CAGERS FINISH SEASON FRIDAY

EIGHT GAMES BOOKED FOR RURAL LOOP; TWO DEADLOCKS POSSIBLE

Martel. Kirkpatrick Boys' Game Tops Sked; Morral After Perfect Record.

FIREWORKS aplenty are promised Friday night in the Marion county basketball league as the rural schools' coaches send their charges onto the court for the last time this season in regular league competition. Eight games are on the books, four between boys' tears and four between teams of the fairer sex.

Martel will take its two teams to Kirkpatrick. Waldo's representatives will travel to Claridon, Morral will trek to Green Camp and LaRue will remain at home to play host to Prospect. Caledonia and Pleasant Township have both completed their league schedules.

Inasmuch as Morral boys in the West section of the league and the Claridon girls in the East section have already cinched ownership of the titles in their respective divisions interest this week centers largely on the outcome of games in the boys East and girls West sections. In both of these there is a possibility of three teams finishing in a deadlock for the leadership.

Kirkpatrick Leads

Kirkpatrick boys are now leading the East division and will be winners of the championship if they are able to stop the attack of Martel Friday night. Martel is tied with Waldo for second place and should the Prashun-coached team defeat Kirkpatrick the two will be deadlocked for the top.

To complicate matters more Waldo has a chance to step into a tie with both Martel and Kirkpatrick by defeating Claridon In case the results of Friday's games cause a deadlock between two or more teams the winner will be decided in games next week.

Pleasant girls, holders of first place in the West circuit are hoping for two tail-end teams, LaRue and Green Camp to come through Friday with upset victories over Prospect and Morral. Should either Morral or Prospect win it will necessitate the sharing of the title by Pleasant.

Chance For Tie

Pleasant girls have finished their season with a record of six won and two lost. Morral and Prospect have both won five and lost two and should they win Friday over Green Camp and LaRue they will be deadlocked with Pleasant for the title. In case of a tie the deadlocked teams will play it off sometime next week.

Morral boys, having cinched the title in the West half of the circuit need have no fear concerning the outcome of the game Friday with Green Camp. Green Camp can win the game and Morral will still be eligible to play in the tournament on Feb. 27. However Coach Wagstaff is anxious to bring his team through the year with a perfect mark and is not liable to toss away any chances to record the eighth straight victory over Green Camp. Morral should win.

The medium should always be in good spirits

SPORTS

BY BOB KIRKPATRICK

AS part of its plan to promote amateur sports in every possible way in Marion county schools, The Marion Star is offering a trophy, described in yesterday's Star, to the county student who is most proficient in the tossing of free throws.

Sports in Marion county in the last few years have been growing, both in spectator and in player interest. With two exceptions every high school in the county is competing in the basketball league. The other two, Meeker and Agosta would be in the league except for the lack of playing facilities. Meeker supports a team but must play all of its games on the road, a handicap of no small proportions.

* * *

The free throw tournament being sponsored by The Star is expected to create quite a lot of interest in the various schools. It will offer an excellent opportunity for county players to prove their ability on the charity stripe and it will furnish another element of competition for the schools themselves. The school whose representative wins the trophy will be allowed to keep it for a single year and then defend it the following season. The school which is able to win it three times will be allowed to place the trophy in its trophy case as a permanent fixture.

* * *

The acquisition of a half interest in the Columbus baseball club by the St. Louis Cardinals will be watched with much interest by fans who follow the success or failure of the Senators. It is quite probably that a majority of fans will not view the purchase favorably after having watched the manner in which the Cincinnati Reds' owners handled the Capital city outfit.

* * *

Under the ownership of the Reds the Senators never prosings was lavish with promises but quite backward about sending many players of merit to pered to a very great extent. Sidney Weil of the Red Stock- the American Association dugouts.

It is hoped that St. Louis will be more generous in the allotting of player material to Columbus. The Senators need new men if they are to go anywhere in the Association race this year. Perhaps they will get them under St. Louis management. They never did under Cincinnati ownership.

British Golfer Faces Tough Foe in Tourney

MYSTERY SOLVED

BELMONT, Cal, Feb. 19—Golfers know how it is to smack a long drive and then be unable to find the ball. This had happened too frequently at the Hillcrest links near here. The local mystery was solved yesterday. Ed Martin, a club member, found 114 balls in a rat hole on the fairway.

JOHN H. CLARK, LEADING BOOSTER OF MARION RECREATION BASEBALL

A lawyer by vocation and a baseball player by avocation, John H. Clark, coach and manager of the Epworth No. 1 baseball team is busily engaged these days in contemplation of the coming season on the Marion Recreational sandlots. Clark has been one of the dominating local figures in the sport since its inauguration here in the spring of 1923 and he has no intention of getting out of the game for a long time.

Fifty-eight years old and 40 of it spent with baseball as the chief hobby, is the way the well-known director of the destines of Epworth baseball sums up his span of life to the present time.

Although Clark has played baseball ever since he has been able to swing a bat and run bases he has never appeared in the role of a professional ball player, confining his activities on the diamond to the ranks of the simon pures.

Battered Plenty

One look at the battered fingers is enough to convince even the most skeptical that his hands have stopped a lot of baseballs at some time or another. The fingers are crooked and bent as a result of numerous collisions with the horsehide covered pellet.

Clark has at times taken a fling at patrolling the outer gardens although his favorite post is behind the bat. Even at his present age he can still perform well enough in the outfield to show up some of the younger members of his Epworth No. 1 team. He demonstrated this on one occasion last season when there was a dearth of players present for a particular game in the Sunday school league.

Needless to say, Clark's playing days are about finished. In the future he will confine his work to telling someone else how to do their work.

JOHN H. CLARK

Organized Game Here

When recreational baseball was first organized in Marion, Clark was one of the individuals responsible for its introduction to local athletes. From a very humble beginning in 1923 the sport has grown here until it now eclipses all other local sports. Not all of the credit for this can be given to Clark by any means but there is no one in the city who is rightfully entitled to a greater share of glory.

Clark has been in the local game ever since it was introduced and his Epworth teams have always finished the races for championship well up in the first division. In 1929 his Epworth No. 1 team won the pennant in No. 1 Sunday school league and then went on to smash out three straight victories in the Little World's Series to take the city championship. His team had but one run scored on it in three games.

Volleyball Fan

Whenever the weather is unfit for baseball—and to Clark that is only when it is not too cold to hold a ball—volleyball assumes the top role as far as athletics are concerned. Basketball and football are all right, according to Clark, but he doesn't care for either of them.

As for recreation baseball in Marion. Clark can see nothing but a brilliant future although he makes no secret of a belief that the two Sunday school circuits are in need of some cleaning up in the way of eligibility. He is hopeful and confident this will be taken care of in a short time. Clark is a stickler for rules and to the best of the writer's knowledge has never been accused of placing a loose interpretation on any particular rule in order to assist his own team over a difficult obstacle. Rules are made to be lived up to and as far as he is concerned they will be.

Clark does not confine his work altogether to contesting law suits and playing baseball. He is teacher of one of the largest Sunday school classes in Marion, the average weekly attendance of the group totaling nearly 75 persons.

CONTINUES TO DRAW

By The Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—Big Bill Tilden, professional tennis player, apparently is just as much of an attraction as Tilden the amateur. Big Bill was the main attraction which drew 14,000 fans who paid $37,000, to Madison Square Garden last night. Tilden opened his professional tour by beating Karel Kozeluh of Czechoslovakia.

The salary of none of the New York Yankee players was cut for the 1931 season despite the fact the club failed to finish 1-2 last year, according to Ed Barrow, business manager.

LOCAL TEAM AFTER EIGHTH CONSECUTIVE WIN; IS 32ND GAME

Wildcat Opponents Have High Class Record; State Champs 6 Times.

THE Shovel Y-Indus basketball team will be facing stern opposition Saturday night when it clashes on the Shovel court with the Cincinnati Wildcats. The Marion quintet is now seeking its eighth consecutive victory and will be playing its thirty-second game of the year against the Cincinnatians.

Cincinnati will bring a formidable outfit to Marion to oppose the Shovel crew. Marion fell before the attack of the downstaters on the out-of-town court by a single point in an overtime battle. The final score was 30 to 29. Marion led the game most of the way but allowed the Cincinnatians to tie the score with less than a minute and then win the game on a pair of foul throws in the overtime stanza.

Cincinnati holds victories over some of the best amateur basketball outfits in the state and has also been victor over several college quintets. Denison, which defeated Ohio Wesleyan last night in Delaware 32 to 29. The lineup of the southern Ohio team is dotted with former college players and amateur stars.

Captain Bud Cram of the Y-Indus is expected to have his full strength on the court for the Saturday game. The Y-Indus lost to the Wildcats with Bill Roush, one of the best forwards of the team on the bench but Roush will be in the lineup Saturday.

Cincinnati has won six state championships out of eight attempts and has been international Y. M. C. A. champion for five years.

Two preliminary events have been arranged for the game. The Marion Business College girls will play the First Reformed Sunday School girls' basketball team and the Marion Y. M. C. A. volleyball team will clash with the Cincinnati Y team. Cincinnati put Marion out of the running last year for the state championship.

Griffiths Signs for Match with Levinsky

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 — Gerald Ambrose Griffiths, the tough Irishman from Sioux City, Ia., has agreed to meet King Levinsky, the former Jewish fish merchant from Chicago's west side, in a ten round bout at Chicago stadium, March 6.

Before signing, Griffiths demanded a guarantee of $25,000. Levinsky agreed to take 60 per cent, out of which he will undertake to pay Griffiths $25,000. If the 60 per cent does not amount to $25,000, the stadium will make up the difference. If the match draws $60,000, as the stadium management anticipates, Levinsky stands to earn about $11,000 for himself after paying Griffiths.

Denison held a slight lead throughout most of last night's game. Scott, Denison center, led the scoring with 11 points.

William "Red" Espey, of North Carolina State college, who made good in football, is holding the school's honors in boxing.

John Campbell, outstanding Alabama halfback, has signed as backfield coach at the University of Kentucky.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruf

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you destroy it entirely.

To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, a look and feel a hundred times bett

You can get liquid arvon at a drug store and four ounces is you will need. This simple reme has never been known to fail.

A moulded bodice, a skirt flare added well below the snug hipline, and a bit of hemstitching, complete an exceedingly attractive garment that may be made at home at a nominal cost. WAGERS HE'LL PLAY WITH THE MIGHTY

WILLIAM ROBERT CRISSY, Phila., Pa., stock broker, has a job on his hands. Crissy has wagered $2,000 with several friends, five of whom are brokers, that before Feb. 15, 1932, he will have dined with President Hoover, played golf with Bobby Jones, motored or played golf with the Prince of Wales, and played golf with John D. Rockefeller, Sr. By the stipulation of the bet he is not to have more than five dollars on his person when he starts out.

• • •

HE will be permitted to work or beg for money on the way but is not allowed to borrow any. Crissy will resign from the brokerage firm with which he is connected He plans to try his luck first with the President, then go to Atlanta to meet Jones, thence to Ormond, Fla., where Rockefeller passes his winters. Then he plans to go wherever the Prince of Wales happens to be at the time. Crissy said he believes he has "a good chance of succeeding."

ANOTHER PICTURE OF FRENCH LEGION IS "BEAU IDEAL"

Film Coming to Palace Is Sequel to "Beau Geste"

BY HALLIE HOUCK

"BEAU IDEAL," sequel to "Beau Geste," comes to the Palace Friday and Saturday with Ralph Forbes, Loretta Young and Irene Rich in the leading roles.

P. C. Wren wrote both books with sales running into the millions. These readers followed closely the affairs of John Geste, his brother Beau and the gallant Colonel De Beaujolais, in the books and in the first picture and will undoubtedly be just as anxious to follow their doings in the French Foreign Legion in the second picture.

Ralph Forbes gained screen prominence in playing the romantic lead in "Beau Geste" and again plays the same role in "Beau Ideals" Lester Vail, a newcomer to the screen from the stage plays the heroic lead of "Otis Madison."

Paul MacAllister seen in the first picture as a corporal is a sergeant in this picture.

"Jadnan," the famous pure-blooded Arabian horse ridden by Rudolph Valentino in "The Son of the Sheik," is one of the three full-blooded Arabian horses to be used in the picture. Taking 2,000 people into the heart of a desert was a simple proposition compared with taking the three valuable horses to the same place. The picture was shot near Yuma, Ariz.

OPPENHEIM STORY COMING TO MARION

E. Phillips Oppenheim's story, "The Lion and the Lamb" has been filmed and is coming to the Marion Friday and Saturday. The underworld drama is presented with a cast including Walter Byron, Raymond Hatton, Carmel Myers, Miriam Seegar and Montagu Love.

Walter Byron is an English actor who after only a year in America, has been featured in several vehicles. His American debut was made opposite Vilma Banky in "The Awakening." His first role was as Little Willie in "East Lynne," played when he was three years old, and his next as Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin."

Carmel Myers, who plays a featured role has rabbis on both her mother's and father's side of the family. It was because her father was a rabbi that she got her first film position with D. W. Griffith He gave her her first role in exchange for some technical information Rabbi Myers had given him on 'Intolerance," so the story goes.

EVA NOVAKONE BACK FROM AUSTRALIA

Shades of moving pictures! Eva Novakone of the actresses we haven't heard of in years is in the cast of "Romance of the West," playing at the Princess Friday and Saturday.

Press sheets say she recently returned from Australia where she has been playing in pictures. In the cast are Jack Perrin and Pete Morrison.

DOROTHY MACKAILL AT MARION

She sinned in New York City, confessed in Sparta, repented in Paris and relented in London. Who? Dorothy Mackaill who plays the lead in "Once a Sinner" at the Marion tonight.

She learned early in life that being born without the proverbial silver spoon has its disadvantages and chooses the easiest way. Fate throws her into the path of a poor but brainy inventor and for the first time in her life is really in love. She insists before marrying him that she tell him of "the other man," which he refuses to hear.

He becomes suspicious of her, and unable to convince him that her past belongs to herself, she leaves him for awhile. The climax comes when husband and "the other man" meet.

Joel McCrea, John Halliday and C. Henry Gordon play in support of Miss Mackaill.

"LITTLE CAESAR" SHOWS UNDERWORLD IN REALISTIC WAY

One Soft Spot in Makeup Brings Downfall of Gangster King.

THERE'S nothing soft about Edward G. Robinson's "Little Caesar," playing at the Ohio tonight through Saturday. Hard, uncompromising, he's ruler of his underworld kingdom until his vanity and a soft spot somewhere in the depths of his makeup bring his downfall.

Robinson gives a superb characterization of "Rico" Bandello, not content with robbing gas stations in a small town, who goes to a big city, Chicago or New York will do, and joins Stanley Field's gang, one of the two principal gangs in town. Both gangs are under Ralph Ince, right-hand man for Sidney Blackmer, the "Big Boy" of the underworld. Rico plans and executes one job in which the crime commissioner is bumpe Quickly but decisively, he b monarch of all he surveys is offered Ince's job.

The only love interest, a slight, thanks to good dire between Douglas Fairbanks gigolo and Glennda Farr their bid for happiness tha about Rico's ruination.

STOCKS SHOW STEADY GAIN

Orderly Upturn Takes Place of Rapid Boosts by Bull Interests.

By International News Service.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19—The stock market settled down to a quiet, orderly upturn today.

Stocks appeared to have been checked by recent setbacks, and willing to proceed at a pace more in keeping with the moderate pace of business recovery. It has been no secret in Wall street that conservative banking interests viewed the tendency to stir up a widespread fever of speculation at this time as unhealthy, and some observers expressed the opinion that blocks of stock were dropped upon the market earlier in the week as a warning to over-zealous bulls.

While the sudden improvement in automotive demand is admittedly encouraging, the steel trade is nevertheless inclined to view it conservatively. It appears that motor makers underestimated their raw material demands, and have placed several rush orders. The industry wonders how well the demand will be maintained when these orders are filled.

Motor executives state that the recent increases in output have been in response to genuine dealer requirements to satisfy public buying. Motor output is still well below the levels necessary to bring 1931 production up to the generally estimated 4,000,000 units or more, but the second quarter of the year will probably tell the tale.

Copper shares were helped by the third ¼-cent-a-pound price increase in recent weeks, carrying the red metal price up to 10¼ cents.

Call money was again available in the outside market at 1 per cent, although a little firmer tendency in credit appeared with another advance of ⅛ of one cent in acceptance rates.

RAINS FORCE PRICES LOWER

Wheat Slumps Further Due to Numerous Bearish Influences.

By The Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19 — Moist weather benefiting domestic winter crop regions eased grain prices down early today. Lower quotations on wheat at Liverpool acted as an additional bearish influence, together with forecasts of enlarged shipments from Argentina. Opening unchanged to ⅛@¼ cents off, wheat afterwards sagged further. Corn started unchanged to ⅛ lower and subsequently held near to the initial limits.

Big primary arrivals of domestic wheat, 1,062,000 bushels, compared with 639,000 a year ago, gave bears an advantage. Rallies were promoted at times however, by advices that foreigners were buyers of future deliveries at Winnipeg, and that export bids just under the market were numerous. Word of heavy rains in Argentina tended to offset earlier predictions of increased shipping from that country.

Declines in corn brought about purchasing for recent speculative sellers and led to advances in some cases. Differing from wheat, corn primary receipts showed a falling off in volume, totaling 900,000 bushels against 1,245,000 at this time last year. Chicago arrivals of corn were 184 cars, and a year ago 284. Oats fluctuated with corn. Provisions were firm, responsive to the course of hog values.

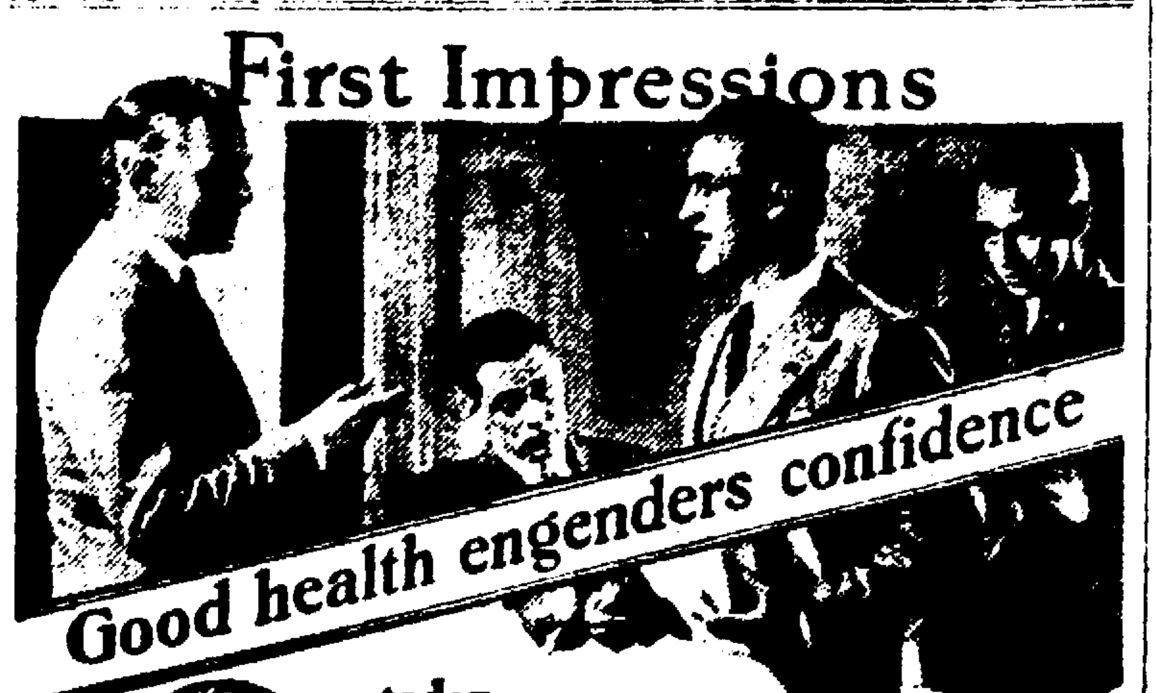
MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin crooks may have to contend with a state bureau for identification and detection of criminals. Before the present legislature adjourns it will have considered a bill appropriating $50,000 for 1932 and $25,000 annually in succeeding years for the establishment and maintenance of a bureau which will keep records of criminals by finger and palm measurements and photographs, and have the power to establish schools for training peace officers in apprehension and detection of criminals.



today business demands healthy men and women—and more than ever it is the survival of the fittest...

POOR health is a distinct drawback to progress in business or social life. Underweight, lack of appetite, sluggishness, a dull mentality, nervousness and even skin disorders—boils and pimples—show their mark on the body, face and mind when the red-cells are deficient in number. (See enlarged blood picture above.) Moreover a low red-blood-cell condition makes the system an easy prey to disease. When your red-blood-cells are only 80% you are NOT yourself—60% is dangerous.

The way to correct this condition is to take S.S.S.—the tonic that will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Millions of people have found it the easiest and surest way to keep themselves "fit." If your vitality is slipping away from you, do try S.S.S.. Take it before each meal. Get the large size. WORKS ON GAS RATE FIGURES

Utilities Commission Seeking To Iron Out Two-Year Fight.

Special to The Star.

KENTON, Feb. 19—That the Ohio public utilities commission is preparing tentative valuations of the West Ohio Gas Co. properties in Kenton and Lima for the purpose of rate making, was the statement made today by commission members.

Aside from this the commission had no other comment to make on the gas rate case which has been banging fire here for more than two years. A similar case is confronting the city of Lima

The rate squabble arose when the West Ohio took an appeal from a gas rate ordinance passed by the Kenton city council to the state commission, declaring that the proposed rates of the council for the city were too low and confiscatory.

Council's action in enacting the rate ordinance was prompted, the legislators pointed out, by their belief that the present rates being charged consumers by the gas company were too high.

Hearings on the gas company's appeal were conducted, the testimony for the most part dealing with valuation figures on the company's properties in Kenton. Later the commission assigned its engineers to appraise the properties and fix a tentative valuation for rate making purposes

Recently West Ohio officials in a communication to city council said a conference was to be arranged with officials of the utility wholesaling gas to them to see if a lower wholesale rate might be fixed. Should this be accomplished a lower rate would be available to consumers locally, it was said. However, no statement of the conference or its outcome has been issued, it was said.

The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.
Everyone knows that sunshine mellows—that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE—made of the finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—THEN—"IT'S TOASTED"—an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

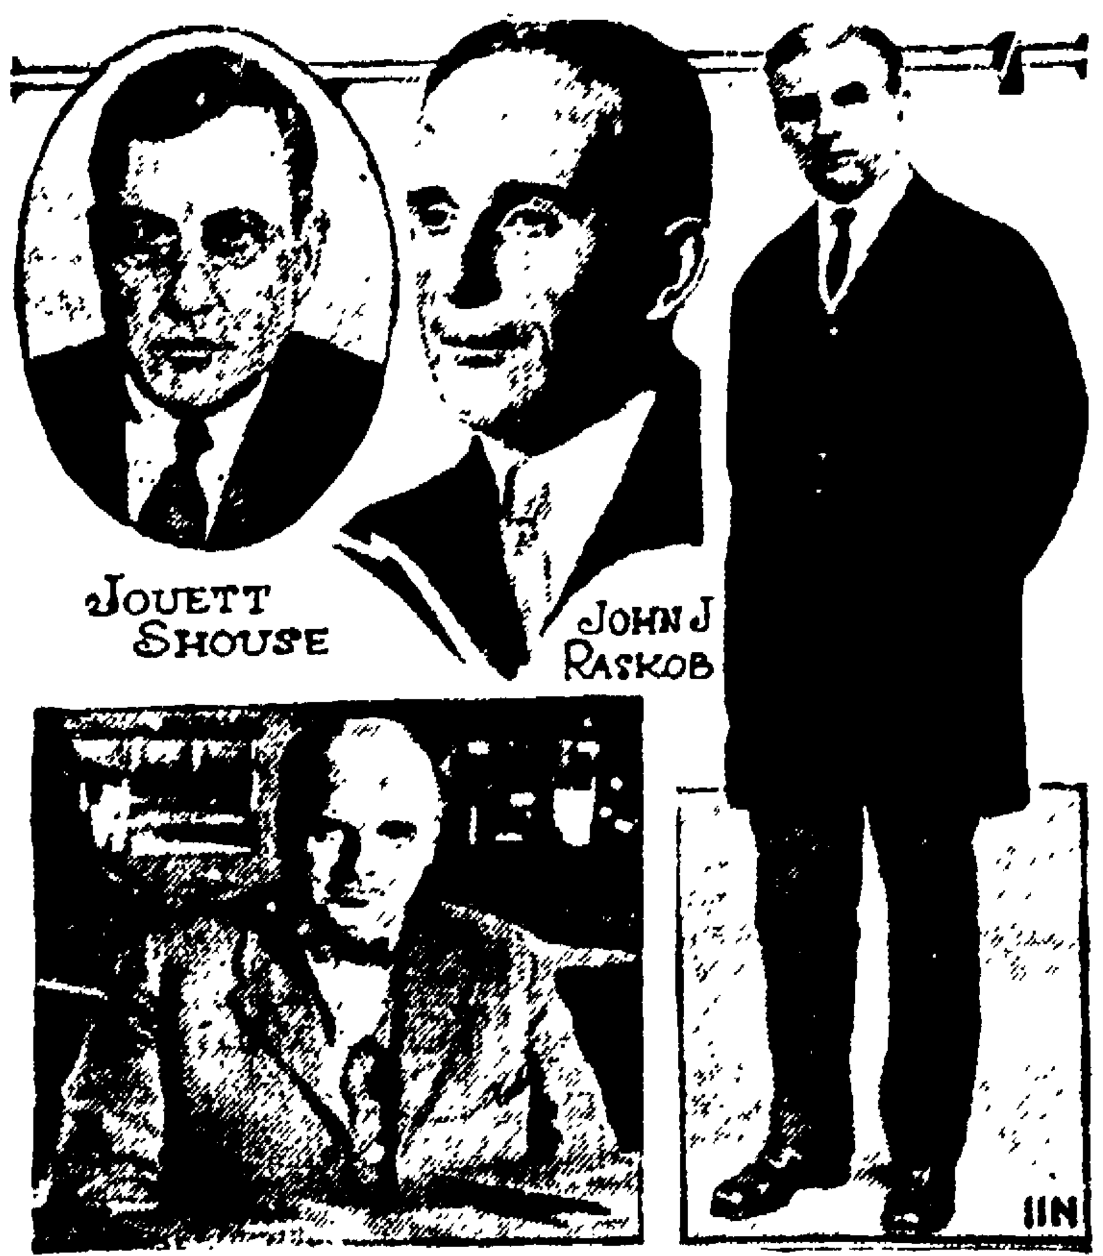
WET-DRY BOGEY IN BACKGROUND



REP. JOHN C. BOX SEN. CAMERON MORRISON

A meeting of the Democratic national committee, which may have a direct bearing on the standard bearer in the Presidential campaign of 1932, has been announced by John J. Raskob. The purpose of the meeting is to receive reports of the party's accomplishments under the leadership of Jouett Shouse, but political soothsayers hint that it may lead to a test on the prohibition question. Senator Cameron Morrison, of N. C., the moving spirit in the dry wing of the party, and Representative John C. Box, of Texas, who represents the drys in the House, will play prominent parts at the meeting.

WHEN THE FOODS YOU LIKE UPSET YOUR STOMACH

Do This For Quick Relief

It's a fine thing to get up from a hearty meal, knowing that the food you have enjoyed will be easily digested, without pain or any stomach suffering. Yet, it's the easiest thing in the world to avoid indigestion or, if you are a habitual sufferer, to stop it, and keep the stomach in perfect health. Just a little "Bisurated" Magnesia, either powder or tablets, taken after eating, instantly neutralizes the excess acids which cause the trouble, prevents fermentation and gas formation, and soothes and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. "Bisurated" Magnesia, which is sold by Henney & Cooper and reliable druggists everywhere, is the treatment recommended by doctors and by thousands of one-time sufferers, who have proved again and again that it is a prompt and certain reliever of acid-caused digestive troubles.—Adv.

TAG SALES SLUMP

Auditor Reports Decrease in Number of Dog Licenses.

Sale of dog licenses at the office of County Auditor Earl E. Thomas has slumped 250 in number this year as compared to the same date a year ago.

A total of 3,343 licenses had been issued yesterday and a year ago the number was 3,603.

The latter figure was boosted to 3,894 by the end of the year. Thomas believes this year's number will be near that amount before the year is over.

Since Jan. 20 the tags prices have been $2 for male and spayed female dogs and $4 for female dogs. This scale is $1 a tag over the regular prices in existence before Jan. 20.

Waldo Vicinity May Be Given Fire Protection

Residents Start Plan To Buy New Truck Following Blaze Which Destroys Farm House; Money To Be Raised by Popular Subscription.

Re[illegible] of Waldo and vicinity [illegible] given fire protection by [illegible]ipment if a movement [illegible] way to purchase a fire [illegible]ugh popular subscrip[illegible]cessful.

At a recent meeting a group of [illegible] from Waldo and the sur[illegible] community heard details [illegible] used in 80 other Ohio [illegible] to give villages and [illegible] fire protection. The [illegible] was explained by L. A. McClelland, fire chief of Laurelville for 22 years.

Fire Prompts Action

The meeting was called by a group of citizens following a damaging fire which destroyed the Sam Almendinger farm residence a short distance north of Waldo recently. No equipment was available to send to this fire. The Marion department does not answer calls more than a short distance beyond the corporation lines of the city.

Following expressions of approval from the group of citizens plans are now being pushed forward to solicit residents of Waldo and all rural residents within an eight mile radius of the village.

The plan calls for the village of Waldo to maintain the apparatus consisting of a fully equipped fire truck. Waldo council has agreed to operate the truck answering calls within an eight mile radius of the village.

Agree on Equipment

The type of equipment to be purchased depends on the amount of money contributed, as no funds are available from tax money to finance the purchase of a truck. A truck agreed on last night as suitable for the protection of Waldo and vicinity carries two 80-gallon chemical tanks and a pump capable of handling 300 gallons of water a minute.

If a suitable type of truck is purchased, Waldo village will probably be availed of lower fire insurance rates through the Ohio inspection bureau.

Daily Proverb—"He never was a friend who has ceased to be one."

No matter how Chicago may like the thing, it is refreshing to newspaper readers on the outside to know that the Windy City's mayoralty circus will come to an end Tuesday.

The body of Frank P. Marlo, until somewhat recently a Chicago gunman, was found on a New York City street, Tuesday, with seven bullet wounds in it. It's a wonder the gunmen do not get next to the fact that invasion of preempted territory is a twin brother to suicide

Samuel Seabury, referee of the magistrates' investigation in progress there, holds that the blind pigs of New York City pay between $20,000,000 and $28,000,000 annually for police protection. Little wonder that prohibition has made little progress in the nation's metropolis.

The members of the five fraternities whose chapter houses were closed at the University of Michigan are charging that the raids were made on fake warrants. This may cast a reflection upon the dry agents who made the Ann Arbor raids, but it can not possibly lighten the burden of fault resting upon the fraternity members who developed oases in a territory which by both federal and college laws was proclaimed desert.

Among the items in the expense account of a delegation of house members attending the funeral of a brother congressman at public expense were "Corkscrew, fifty cents" and "Paid setters up, three dollars." Now what possible use could a party of congressmen have for a corkscrew, especially while attending a funeral, and what under the sun can "setters up" be, anyway?

The personal classification board in Washington has recommended automatic salary increases for federal employes. What a pity that we hard-working spreaders of joy and sunshine in paragraphs are not sufficiently strong numerically to attract the attention of the powers that be to the possibility that it might be profitable to cultivate us, looking to our good will as potential material for political fence-building purposes.

Professor William Boss, of the University of Minnesota, has arrived at the conclusion, following a series of tests, that the average man as a source of energy is worth about one cent an hour. That isn't the worst of it. The growing inclination on the part of a lot of men is to refuse to apply even such little energy as they may possess.

We can appreciate as possible the wired report from Hartford, Connecticut, that militant women drys, headed by the Connecticut W. C. T. U., sang "Onward Christian Soldiers" and other airs so lustily as to disrupt the scheduled public hearing of the wet "Crusaders' bill" in the state capitol there, but we utterly refuse to credit the report that the good women drys "puffed cigaret smoke ino the faces of state legislators." To believe that, would cause us to lose faith in human nature.

Exhausted Legislators and Public.

The exhausted state legislators, played out from introducing 340 new bills Tuesday—the last day in which new legislation could be introduced without suspension of the rules—reflects an exhausted public.

Many of the 905 bills piled in the legislative hoppers never will see light. Many others will receive only cursory consideration. Good and bad alike will suffer from the hopelessly-crowded condition of the calendars in the two branches of the legislature.

Had these measures been offered in such a way that they could have been considered intelligently by the legislators and the public, the affairs of the state would bear more of a semblance of orderliness. As it is, there is chiefly the appearance of hopeless jumbling. The public, its interest fatigued by too much legislation, can hardly be expected to do more than yawn and think uncomplimentary thoughts about any group that voluntarily adds to the multiplicity of unnecessary laws.

This year, to a certain extent, and as it will more and more as the practice is continued, the public is realizing the folly of over-legislating. Soon after the public makes its feelings known, it may be expected that the legislators also will discern their error. The willing horse is close to being worked to death.

No one doubts, of course, that the legislators sincerely believe they are upholding the public trust by introducing as many bills as possible. The present problems lies in making them see that by prosecuting what they believe to be their duty too zealously they have defeated their purpose. Ohio is exhausted from worrying over too much new, and often useless, legislation. It needs time to settle down, get rid of a great many outworn laws and consider all future new legislation with discerning, cautious regard.

Our Attitude Toward Latin America.

Secretary of State Stimson's recent exposition of the attitude of the United States, past and present, toward the republics of Latin America can hardly be expected to lessen the clamor of that element of our population which has been crying "imperialism" and attacking administrative policies, nor will his statement regarding the intention of the government to recall our marines from Nicaragua following the 1932 election there have that effect. No matter what the course of the government, that element will find or formulate some ground for criticism, and in criticizing carry the imputation that the policy being followed is that of recent administrations, not that pursued by its predecessors, with the exception noted by Secretary Stimson, for decades past.

Even in the matter of the presence of United States marines in Nicaragua, the critics and assailants of the administration's policies would have the country believe that the calls of Central American governments for armed assistance is new with recent administrations when, as a matter of fact, that policy dates back at least eighty years to the administration of President Taylor.

Secretary Stimson made plain our special interest in Central America by saying that "that locality has been the one spot external to our shores which nature has deemed to be most vital to our national safety, not to mention our prosperity;" explaining that "since the Panama canal has become an accomplished fact, it has been not only the vital artery of our coastwise commerce, but, as well, the link in our national defense which protects the defensive powers of our fleet."

Thus for our own protection and in self-defense, it is incumbent on the government of the United States to see that orderly government is maintained in Central American republics, for any excesses committed against the persons or the property of the nationals of European or other governments there might result, in the absence of action by our government, in reprisals which could not be tolerated by the United States in line with our long-established policy of demanding that there be no encroachment by foreign powers on the soil of the republics to the south of us from the Rio Grande to Cape Horn.

Our marines are in Nicaragua by request of the Nicaraguan government to assure that the honest will of the people of Nicaragua may be expressed at the polls. The presence of our marines there has done that, but the marines have done far more than assure honest elections; they have been training a body of men there corresponding to our national guard into a real organization of fighting men, and the expectation is that by another year, this force will be able to maintain peace and order throughout Nicaragua and afford protection to the decent citizenship of the republic from the bands of bandits and cutthroats who in the past have made a practice of robbing and pillaging throughout the country.

If we are to judge by the Chicago papers and the utterances of the candidates, the Hon. Scarface Al. Capone is the one compelling issue in the mayoralty campaign up there. Really, it is hard to overcome the belief that Mr. Capone is being given a false value. Were the decent people of Chicago to get down to facts and go after the higher-ups by whose grace Capone is permitted to operate, they might get somewhere and ultimately restore the good fame of their city.

Handling the Mails.

President Hoover, signing the bill to give postal employes a forty-four hour week, recommended an increase in postal revenues to meet rising expenses. The President pointed out that a deficit of approximately $100,000,000 may be expected this year.

It is a pointed revival of the question: "Is handling the mails a governmental service or a business?" It was established as a service, but of recent years more and more pressure has been exerted to have it considered as a business. The annual "deficit" is greatly responsible for the growth of this attitude.

America's horror of deficits has an adverse effect on the postal service, incidentally. Every time mention is made of increasing the pay, or decreasing the hours of postoffice employes, as has just been accomplished, there is audible objection. Constant pressure and persistent effort are all that keep working conditions in the postoffice service close to the standard established by private industry.

Criticism, however, rarely is without some good effects and promotion of postal efficiency is the apparent benefit resulting from constant critical scrutiny of the postoffice department.

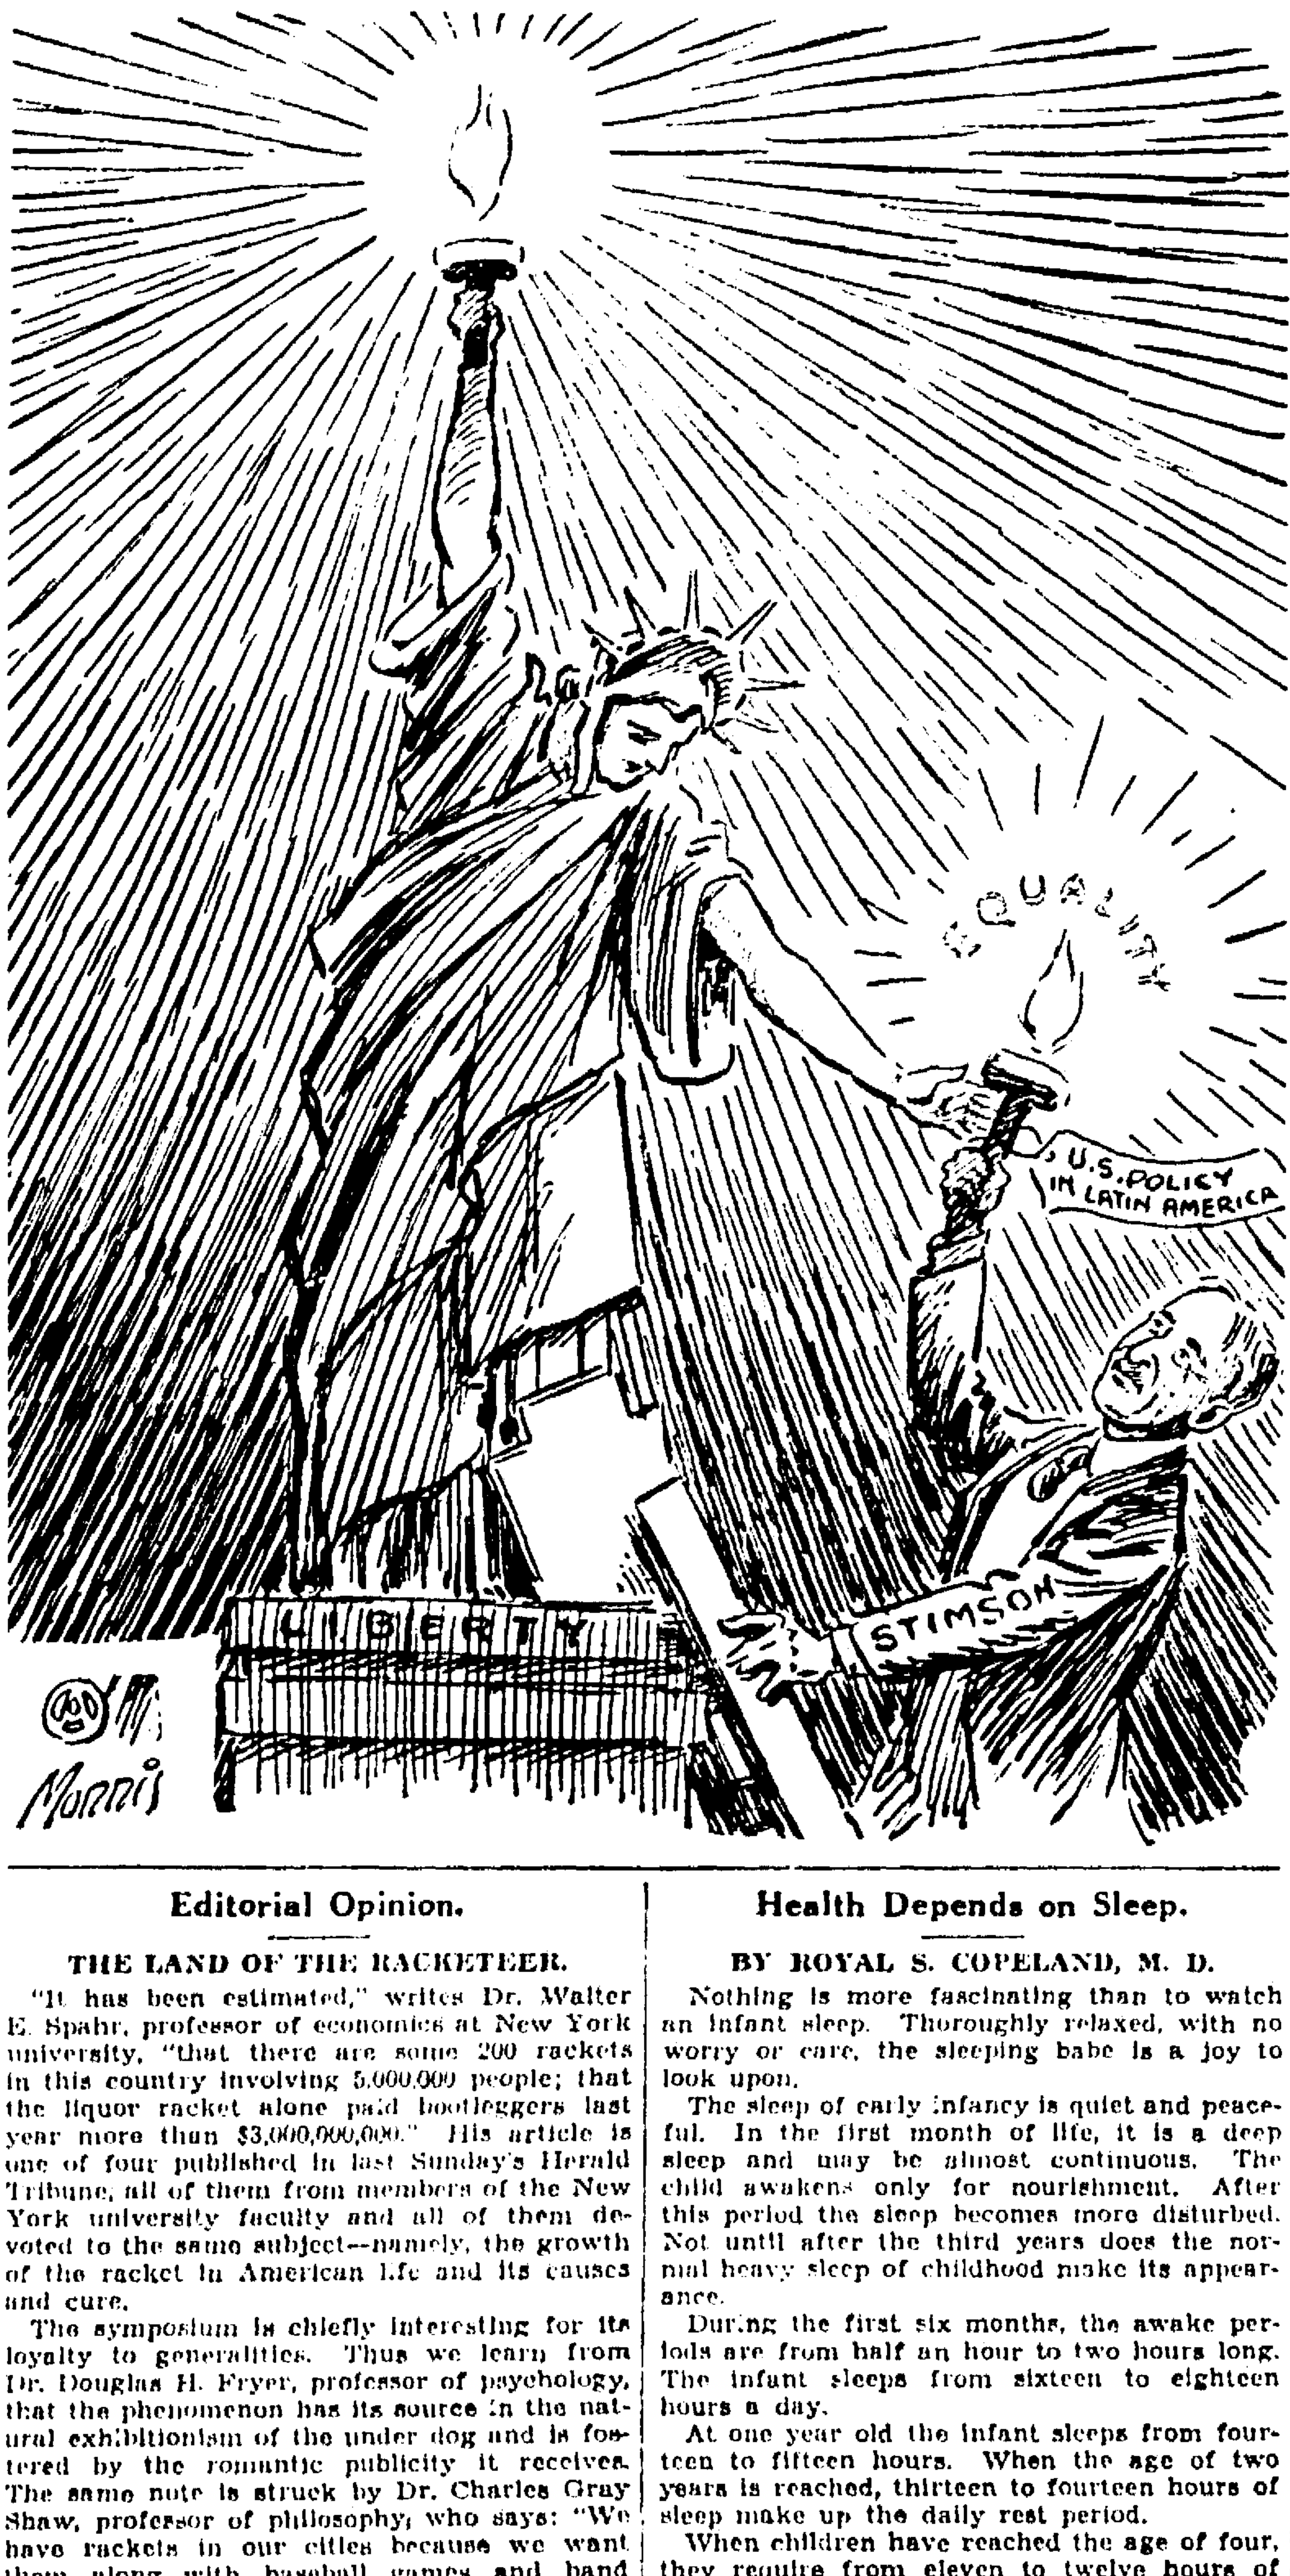
President Hoover, in signing the bill to shorten the hours of postal employes and in pointing out the probable amount of the next deficit, seems to recognize two things: that handling the mails is, first of all, a public service, and that it might conceivably be improved by such manipulation of postal rates and departmental expenses as would keep the annual deficit from increasing. It is apparent that a service supported by the public might become a tax burden were its expenses allowed to increase disproportionately to its income

New York City's real and personal property is valued for taxation at $19,162,517,014 for 1930-31, an increase of $578,548,612 over the valuations for the preceding period. The depression doesn't appear to have affected property values in New York.

The delegates to the convention of the National Federation of Radio Associations in session in Indianapolis were told by a New York radio expert to look for talkies in the homes within ninety days. Great Scott! Doesn't he realize that there are nightly talkies in thousands of American homes as it is?

Statistics compiled by the bureau of railway economics show that the net operating income of 171 Class I railroads was but $885,001,000 in 1930, a decrease of 30.5 per cent, from the $1,274,605,000 net operating income of the same roads in 1929. Under the circumstances, it's hard to understand why congress neglects to impose further restrictions. A few more might put them entirely out of business.

MORE WORLD ENLIGHTENMENT.



Editorial Opinion.

THE LAND OF THE RACKETEER.

"It has been estimated," writes Dr. Walter E. Spahr, professor of economics at New York university, "that there are some 200 rackets in this country involving 5,000,000 people; that the liquor racket alone paid bootleggers last year more than $3,000,000,000." His article is one of four published in last Sunday's Herald Tribune, all of them from members of the New York university faculty and all of them devoted to the same subject—namely, the growth of the racket in American life and its causes and cure.

The symposium is chiefly interesting for its loyalty to generalities. Thus we learn from Dr. Douglas H. Fryer, professor of psychology, that the phenomenon has its source in the natural exhibitionism of the under dog and is fostered by the romantic publicity it receives. The same note is struck by Dr. Charles Gray Shaw, professor of philosophy, who says: "We have rackets in our cities because we want them along with baseball games and band concerts." As for remedies, Professor Jay B. Nash, of the School of Education, thinks that athletic games can be made to provide the moral equivalent of the thrills which underprivileged youth finds today in gang activities, and Dr. Spahr expresses the opinion that "fearless and incorruptible honesty in government seems to offer the only solution."

All of which, it seems to us, begs the question. Human nature in this country and age does not differ from that in other countries and other ages. We have no more under dogs seeking revenge on the social order than are to be found elsewhere, rather fewer in proportion to population if there is any virtue in democracy. We make no more fuss over Al Capone than our grandfathers did over Jesse James or our remote ancestors over Robin Hood. We promote and encourage athletic sports among all classes to a degree never equaled before anywhere. And we resent quite as much as other peoples dishonesty in government; our scandals prove it. Yet the racket is peculiar to the United States. In no other civilized land does it flourish as it does here and in no other period of our history has it attained to the status of a social menace which it occupies at present.

Of course, it is a product of human nature, but why beat about the bush in explaining that its ascendancy is the fruit of a law without popular sanction, whose highly remunerative violation has enthroned the underworld in our midst? The liquor racket, as Dr. Spahr indicates, ranks among the greatest of our national industries. It has debauched our local governments and through them bred most of the other rackets to which we pay tribute. It is the king and patriarch of rackets, and its patron saint is Mr. Volstead.

No doubt rackets would continue should we abolish prohibition, but their progressive enfeeblement would date from such action. It is the only remedy short of a complete reversal of human nature that promises any improvement.—New York Herald Tribune.

PASSING OF A POPULAR ACTOR.

Some men are born to the stage. The late Louis Mann was in this class. He began to act while he was in his teens, and the most notable fact in his long and eventful career is that his record of stage successes was climaxed by a "come-back" when he was a middle-aged man. It was when most of his contemporaries thought his theatrical life was over that he scored a big hit in "Friendly Enemies." He was an exceedingly competent actor. This is not surprising when it is known that he played with such masters as Lawrence Barrett, John McCullough and with Booth and Salvini. Thus he was able to assume all sorts of parts at comparatively short notice.

Louis Mann won great popularity in many of his modern parts, but it is doubtful if his admirers were aware of the extent of his culture and versatility. With his wife, the talented Clara Lipman, he was the coauthor of a number of unusually clever plays. He was a painter, musician, writer and master of languages. He was keenly interested in astronomy, and besides writing plays had a hand in the construction of all the shows he appeared in. In his lifetime he entertained millions of people. For that reason, if for no other, the news of his death will be heard with regret.

We pay the tribute of our respect to statesmen, soldiers, clergymen, lawyers, physicians and writers, but very often the stage folk who help to lighten our hours have a warmer place in our hearts than those of the graver professions.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Health Depends on Sleep.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Nothing is more fascinating than to watch an infant sleep. Thoroughly relaxed, with no worry or care, the sleeping babe is a joy to look upon.

The sleep of early infancy is quiet and peaceful. In the first month of life, it is a deep sleep and may be almost continuous. The child awakens only for nourishment. After this period the sleep becomes more disturbed. Not until after the third years does the normal heavy sleep of childhood make its appearance.

During the first six months, the awake periods are from half an hour to two hours long. The infant sleeps from sixteen to eighteen hours a day.

At one year old the infant sleeps from fourteen to fifteen hours. When the age of two years is reached, thirteen to fourteen hours of sleep make up the daily rest period.

When children have reached the age of four, they require from eleven to twelve hours of sleep. It is advisable that the daily nap be encouraged until the children are six years old.

For children between the ages of six and ten years, the amount of sleep required is ten or eleven hours. Nine hours of sleep should be the minimum from twelve to sixteen

Proper sleep is merely a matter of proper training. This training should be begun at birth. The infant will soon learn that when placed in the crib it is time to go to sleep. Rocking, the giving of a rubber nipple to suck, and other artificial methods of inducing slumber, should not be resorted to for the wooing of sleep. They are unnecessary and often harmful.

The sleeping quarters should be a room away from noises, and, during the hours for sleep, it should be darkened. A warm and comfortable bed, a satisfied appetite and dry napkins, are all that are needed to induce sleep in a normal child.

In training the infant it is best to keep in mind that the child is to have his long sleep at night. This is best accomplished by wakening the infant regularly every three to four hours during the day for feeding. Then he is permitted to sleep as long as possible during the night.

Irregular sleep in an infant is due to one of two things. Either the child is hungry or is suffering from indigestion. Continued disturbed sleep is a sign of trouble. If the mother can't locate it, it requires careful investigation by a physician.

Lack of sleep in children beyond infancy results in delayed development. Its cause must be found and removed. The mental and physical growth demands abundance of sleep.

From Our Readers.

THE WRONG IMPRESSION.

Editor Star—Noticing an address of Mr. Morris, of Columbus, rural school supervisor of the department of state education, made to 140 teachers of our county, I will say that I believe he gave the wrong impression in regard to the county superintendent. I think there is not so much a personal grudge against Mr. Rayburn, but a feeling throughout the county that the office is unnecessary, and a taxation burden which could well be done away with. I think, and I believe, the majority of rural people will agree that our boards of education can serve in the premises just as well, and maybe better, at a saving in our taxes. It seems to be the policy of the powers that be to cut useless offices throughout the state, and it could well be carried on and extended to our counties. I feel that Mr. Morris was misinformed in regard to Mr. Rayburn, and that it is the office and not the man to which they object.

Wanted—More Museums.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Certainly one of the greatest needs of America is a large number of important museums having to do with science, invention, industry and commerce. To be sure, there are museums in existence now, and others are in various stages of development. But in a country with a population of one-eighth of a billion, one can not have too many museums.

One of the most important projects along this line, yet put forward in this country, is the museum to which Mr. Henry Ford is devoting so much attention. On one historic occasion, Mr. Ford is reported to have said: "History is bunk."

And surely much of the history of our textbooks is bunk—with its thinly-veiled propaganda, its narrow nationalism, its restricted view, its stress upon wars, battles, generals; its slighting of science and the arts, its failure to give a true, broad picture of the life of the people as a whole.

Mr. Ford is building a colossal museum to show a typical community in all its relations; to trace the development of invention in the United States and incidentally elsewhere; to show the steady forward march of civilization, the upward climb of the race. Such an institution has an immortality of a sort. It is not a dead thing: it grows with the years and with the ages.

A museum enjoys an advantage over all other forms of passive instruction; it makes a direct, immediate and convincing appeal. The eye is instantaneous in reaction to external stimuli; and such impressions, with the great majority of people, are far more deep-seated and lasting than impressions received from reading or hearing lectures.

The objects in a museum, in large measure, tell their own story. With the aid of the attached card, the exhibit is self-explanatory. The very fact of its presence in the museum is impressive. To pass through a museum, to coordinate your impressions, to carry away pictures in the imagination and ideas in the brain—this is an important sort of education which we, in this country, have neglected far too much.

One American was filled with ideas like this; and he did all that he could to forward his great plans. This was Benjamin Thompson, who was afterward given the title "Count Rumford"—which he took, because he was born in Rumford, Massachusetts. He founded the Royal Institute of Great Britain, and drew up a prospectus for the establishment of a great scientific museum under its auspices. Excerpts are as follows:

"The completest working models or construction of the full size will be provided and exhibited in different parts of this public repository, of all such new mechanical inventions as are applicable to the common purposes of life."

Every consideration unites in showing how highly important it must be to the progress of real improvements to have some general collection of useful mechanical contrivances, constructed on the most approved principles and kept constantly in actual use, to which application can be made as to a standard, in order to determine whether the failure of experiments be owing to errors in principle, or to the mistakes of workmen employed in the construction, or to those of the servants intrusted with the management of the machinery.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

Sheridan and the Shenandoah Valley.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

In its very producitivity lay the reason for the Shenandoah valley being laid waste by the two Ohio soldiers, Grant and Sheridan, in 1864. General Grant determined that it should be rendered incapable of supporting a confederate army. Sheridan in carrying out his orders, wholly approved the program. Grant directed Sheridan to remove all crops, foods, stores, animals, negroes and men under fifty years of age that he could, and destroy all of that which he could neither carry nor consume.

Regarding the order to remove all able-bodied men, Grant explained that they would become soldiers as soon as Lee could get his hands on them, and furthermore Sheridan would pick up a lot of Mosby's guerillas in this way. Buildings were to be spared everywhere, loyal residents were to be assured that the government would recompense them for losses, and the Quakers were to be spared.

Referring to the order of General Grant, General Sheridan wrote in his memoirs that Grant had "rightly concluded that it was truly time to bring the war home to a people engaged in raising crops from a prolific soil to feed the nation's enemies, and devoting to the confederacy the best of its youth. I indorse the program in all its parts. In war a territory like this is of utmost importance. I do not hold war to mean simply that we shall engage each other in battle. War means much more and is far worse than this. Those who rest at home in peace and plenty see little of the horrors attending such a duel, and even grow indifferent to them as the struggle goes on. It is another matter, however, when deprivation and suffering are brought to their own doors. Death is popularly considered the maximum punishment in war, but it is not; reduction to poverty brings prayers more surely and quickly than does the destruction of human life, as the selfishness of man had demonstrated in more than one great conflict."

Valencia's Water Tribunal.

BY TEMPLE MANNING.

One of the most colorful and unusual si of the ancient city of Valencia is the "W Tribunal." On Thursday of each week curious ceremony which has persisted thro hundreds of years is held in the Plaza de Constitucion.

MYSTERY MONOPLANE FALLS DURING TRIAL

Designer of Odd Craft Killed as Ship Crashes at Roosevelt Field, N. Y.

By The Associated Press

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Feb. 19—Emery Davis, designer of a mystery plane, took his ship into the air today for the first time and was killed when it crashed. Carl Nelson, his co-pilot, was slightly injured.

The ship, a tandem monoplane with an odd, square-shaped fuselage and front and rear wings of equal length, was being towed by an automobile when it nose-dived to the earth. Davis, a man of 50 who came here a couple of years ago and refused to tell anyone the details of the airplane innovation he was tinkering with, was instantly killed. The ship was only about 50 feet in the air when it crashed.

Davis had been carrying on his experimental work in a hangar. Field officials estimated that during the last two years the inventor expended about $100,000 on his ship.

Little was known about him except that he lived at a hotel near the field and had no intimates.

Capone Scores Butler Attack; Denies He Is Criminal.

By The Associated Press

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 19—Al Capone is wrathful because of published reports that Major General Smedley D. Butler had said the Chicago "public enemy" would be deported when public opinion is aroused.

"The general is ill-informed," Capone said in a statement published today. "He should know the laws of this country protect an American-born citizen and prevent the deportation of anyone who like myself, was born in this country."

"General Butler says I am a criminal. The only charge that I know of, or any law abiding authorities know of, is of my being charged with vagrancy.

"I have been feeding between 2,500 and 3,000 people daily in Chicago for the last six months. If this is an act of a vagrant, I want to be classed as one.

"I leave the American people to judge as between General Butler and myself, and I am satisfied to abide by their verdict."
